REFORM OF COMPANY LAW.

In our last article on this subject we referred to the way in which the Commission appointed to report upon the amendment of Company Law in the United Kingdom (called for by the serious falling-off in the registration of of limited companies, the transfer of such business to foreign countries, and the growing practice of issuing companies without prospectus) proposed to make registration more popular and to prevent these regrettable results, mainly arising from the passing of the Act of 1900.

We will now deal with that portion of their report which refers to registration outside the United Kingdom of companies carrying on business in England and appealing to English investors. It is, they state, as a matter of course desirable that as many companies as possible, conducting enterprises abroad, should be controlled from the United Kingdom. "The promoter also finds it more convenient to register in the country where he has to get his capital—which is usually England—the in the country which is to be the scene of the company's operations." They also seem to be agreed that the practice of using our registration laws for foreign enterprise is changing and that some means should be taken to restore this practice to its former condition of popularity, which they think may be effected by making the law as to disclosure or the liability of directors less stringent and the stamp duty less deterrent. Without going to the length of recommending the compelling of foreign companies carrying on business in the United Kingdom to comply with the requirements of the Act of 1900, they are of opinion that every foreign company having any place of business in the United Kingdom should be required under penalty to file in England a verified copy, with a verified English translation, of its charter, statutes, or memorandum and articles of association, with the names of all directors and with the names of the authorized representative acting on behalf of such company who would represent the same for services of processes or legal proceedings. Also that foreign company shall file with the Registrar a verified copy of its annual balance sheet under substantial penalty for default. Further, that a foreign company of this kind using the word "Limited" should in any prospectus inviting subscriptions in the United Kingdom state the company's place of origin and should when carrying on business in the United Kingdom be compelled under penalty to put its place of origin with its own name on its business premises.

It should be steadily borne in mind that these recommendations are made with a view of protecting the shareholders and creditors of such companies and not with any idea of bringing them into any other position than they are now as regards taxation, which subject was not in the scope of the enquiry. We cannot but consider these recommendations as entirely reasonable. If companies starting on some foreign project expect to obtain capital to carry on such enterprises from England, the British public have a right to have open to them the facts and figures relating to them, and the foreigner, where he deals in shares of a company termed "Limited," has a right to expect to see its registration papers at Somerset House; as the word "limited" implies that it is registered subject to the various Acts of Parliament passed under the Limited Liability Acts for the protection both of shareholders and creditors as well as the general public.

We should doubt if obligations of this kind would have much effect in preventing foreign companies with English capital being started, but the other recommendations to meet this among other grievances, i.e., lowering the cost of the stamp on the capital authorized from 5s. % to 2s. 6d. % and the payment of the same by instalments as well as the less stringent treatment of honest directors, would without doubt make registration in England of public companies, both foreign and otherwise, increasingly popular. The Act of 1900 was felt by all who had knowledge of the subject as based upon the idea that the bulk of company promoters and even directors were rogues, and in trying to improve the law the assumption must be that the company promoter is a real want and has a right to be protected just as much as the public themselves. There is nothing in the least derogatory in company promotion so long as all is above board, yet the effect of the Act of 1900 was to make any good business man ashamed of the appellation from the sinister view it cast upon his profession.
In the matter of foreign companies Egypt is very much a case in point. It is a great pity that any attempt should be made to evade registration of any companies trading in Egypt and having business premises in England. At present the share markets in Alexandria and Cairo are apparently good enough for most purposes, but Egyptian companies would be short-sighted indeed who did not see an element of prudence in the placing of their position quite clearly before those whose assistance they may any day want to call for, i.e., the capitalists of the world.

The Legislative Council met yesterday to discuss a draft law regarding the judicial police, but not being in quorum, adjourned the matter to another meeting.

By arrangement with the Government, M. Zervoudachi has been authorised to procure from Old Cairo all the earth he may require for elevating the level of the land he owns on Rodah Island, for two years and a half.

San Stefano Theatre.

The new ballet, "The Geisha," met with great success last night, and in response to a general desire it will be given again to-morrow evening, when there will be some new debuts of artistes, including Mlle Marie Fleury.

Murderer Sentenced.

The Atarin Native Court yesterday sentenced a deaf Nasir Mostapha, a cigarette merchant at Ras el Tin, to 15 years' imprisonment with hard labour for the murder of Ibrahim Mohamed El Ghabashi, of Alexandria, on the 3rd ult.

Khedivial Mail Line.

Captain Fawcett, of the Khedivial Mail Line, left for England to-day via Marseilles in charge of 60 men who are to form the crew of the company's new steamer, the Osmanieh. The vessel is due to leave Southampton on the 22nd or 23rd inst., and Captain Fawcett expects to reach Alexandria at the end of the month, doing the voyage in a little over seven days,—a record-breaking time.

New Employment Registry.

The British Chamber of Commerce gives notice that it has commenced an employment register, which may be consulted by members requiring clerical or other assistance. Applications will be received, free of charge, from clerks and others wishing to obtain posts in Egypt. Address, Secretary, British Chamber of Commerce, Alexandria. [Advt.]

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Prince Ibrahim Pasha Helmy and General Ahmed Djaleddin Pasha are staying at Vichy.

Lord Cromer has been staying in London at 20, Mansfield-street. It is a little thoroughfare close to Portland-place and leading from Queen Anne-street to New Cavendish-street. It is here that he composed his Memorandum on the Danishwail affair, which has just been presented to Parliament.

The Crown Prince of the Hellenes (Duke of Sparta) was present at an official luncheon given by M. Metaxas, the Greek Minister, at the Legation, in honour of the members of the Hellenic deputation attending the Inter-Parliamentary Conference. The other guests included the Duke of Argyll, Lord Weardale, the Right Hon. J. Bryce, M.P., Lord Fitzmaurice, Sir Charles Dilke, M.P., M. Mavromichalis, M. Baltazzi, M. Criezitis, M. Schlie-mann, M. Sakis, M. Gorgialogno (president of the Greek community in London), Captain Orfanidis (Aide-de-Camp to the Crown Prince), the Very Rev. the Greek Archbishop of Greece, and Mons. P. Argenti. The guests were received by Madame Metaxas.

The Duchess Victoria Adelaide of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, who (this morning's telegram from Berlin states) has just given birth to a son, is the wife of Prince Leopold's son, the second Duke of Albany and the reigning Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. He married last year, on October 11th, the daughter of the Duke of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg.

We would tender our congratulations to the Hon. Mrs. C. James, the popular wife of the Hon. C. James, of the Ministry of the Interior, who has given birth to a son. Mrs. James was Miss Florence Packe, daughter of Mr. and Lady Alice Packe, and is a niece of Lord Kimberley. The Hon. C. James is a son of the wealthy Lord Northbourne, of Betteshanger Park, Kent. In 1894 he was gazetted to the 2nd East Surrey Regiment, and in 1899 he joined the Egyptian Army and served in the first White Nile Expedition, for which he gained the medal with clasps. From 1900 to 1901 he was Administrator of Wady Halfa.

Mr. Gabriel Nasser, the well-known advocate of Alexandria, was presented yesterday evening with a beautiful daughter. Both mother and child, we are glad to hear, are doing well.

UNREST IN EGYPT.

MR. COPE WHITEHOUSE'S FEARS.

SQUADRON DEMANDED.

Oyster Bay, New York, July 7.—Mr. Frederick Cope Whitehouse, of Newport, Rhode Island, came to Oyster Bay yesterday to advise President Roosevelt that the United States should rush a squadron to the Egyptian coast to protect American interests against the threatened holy war there. Secretary Loeb told Mr. Whitehouse that he did not believe the President was at this time giving his attention to the Egyptian trouble.

Mr. Whitehouse, it will be remembered, has a claim against the Egyptian Government of many years' standing. He insists that his plans for making several million acres of the Egyptian desert fertile in the Wady Rayan, was discriminated against by the English engineers on the Nile, and $40,000,000 is said to be the amount of reparation he has vainly sought to gain through action by the State Department.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.

It has been decided, in principle, says "Al Mokattam," to increase the number of English officials in Egypt and to extend their powers for the purpose of maintaining public security.

ENGLISH OFFICIAL ATTACKED.

Another attack on an English official is reported from the provinces. Mr. Marshall Arthur, of the Irrigation Department, was on a bicycle with his secretary in the neighbourhood of Kafr Beidab, in the Mit Ghamr district, when he noticed a fellow, despite the prohibition, working his sakieh. After a discussion he took the man to bring him before the omdeh to draw up a procès verbal. When near the village the sons of the fellah attacked the Englishman. One of them upset the cycle and tried to strike him when he was on the ground, but Mr. Arthur defended himself successfully. The omdeh and ghaflirs came to the rescue and the assailants have been sent to the Mit Ghamr markaz, where an enquiry has been opened.

A DANGEROUS YEAR.

A Cairo correspondent writes to a London newspaper:— I met a man yesterday who had come from the West Coast of Africa about a month ago. He told me that the natives have been restless there for a long time past. According to what he learnt from some men in the know, the year 1906 had long been fixed upon as the epoch when the "white man" would be driven out of Africa. One can credit this statement with a certain amount of truth, in the light of the wave of unrest, which started in German West Africa, and has spread to the north and the south. In some parts the motive is said to be a religious one, but at the bottom of it all is undoubtedly race hatred.

BRITISH TROOPS IN CRETE.

In yesterday's General Orders, it is notified that the British troops in Crete reverted to the Malta Command, with effect from 11th July, 1906. For purposes of payment, however, the reversion took effect from 1st August, 1906.

AN EGYPTIAN BIZERTA.

Under the interrogative heading "A New Bizerta?", the "Pyramides" announces that the Government has granted a concession to an English company to cut a canal between the ancient Lake Sirbonis, west of El Arish, and the Mediterranean. A spit of land, only a kilometre wide, separates them, and the lake has depth and accommodation sufficient for several squadrons. The strategic importance of this possible naval station, says the "Pyramides," is nil, owing to the lack of elevated ground for fortifications, and this defect would expose the squadrons inside the lake to risk of being shut in. Moreover, there is neither sweet water nor pasture, and the seabeds round the lake are impracticable during the rainy season. Commercially, too, the place is of no value, for the caravan route passes it 15 miles southward.

CASINO FOR ALEXANDRIA.

The committee appointed by the Alexandria Municipal Delegation have agreed to lend their support to Mr. George Ralli's proposal for a concession for a Casino on the new quay, provided that the following conditions be fulfilled:—

Payment of an annual rent equivalent to six per cent. on the value of the land occupied by the Casino, the valuation to be that originally made by the Municipality in laying down the upset price of the land if sold.

The building is to become the property of the city of Alexandria at the expiration of fifty years dating from the grant of the concession. A deposit, equivalent to the annual rent of the Casino for the first five years, is to be paid over to the Municipality.

The taxes are to be paid by the concessionaires. The Municipality is to be entirely free from financial responsibility of any sort or kind in regard to the Casino.

These stipulations have been accepted by the concessionaires with the exception that they propose that the caution-money, which the Municipality demand should be sent as a deposit equivalent to five years' rent, should be reduced to a sum equivalent to three years' rent.

EGYPTIAN FRONTIER.

TURKISH COMMISSIONERS' OBSTINATE ATTITUDE.

The Mixed Commission which is engaged in the delimitation of the Taroos Egyptian frontier is still encamped at Rafah. The Ottoman delegates are ignoring the acceptance by the Porte last May as the basis of a settlement of the frontier dispute, of the line from El Akaba to Rafah, and persistently oppose the inclusion within Egyptian territory of El Anjah, the site of an ancient city in ruins 35 miles south-east of Rafah. They seem disinclined to accept anything but the traditional frontier line, based on the testimony of the Bedouins inhabiting Turkish territory, a line which may be more in accord with the natural configuration of the country.

BRITISH BEER BREWERY (EGYPT) LIMITED.

This company has just gone to allotment, its entire working capital having been privately subscribed. Offices have been secured in Maison Spiro, Chareh Kasr-el-Nil, Cairo, and Mr. A. P. Phillips has been appointed secretary. Mr. G. D. Girdwood, one of the directors, is at present in England purchasing the necessary plant, and in the meantime a suitable site has been secured near Cairo and the erection of the brewery will shortly be commenced.

The company hope to place their products, ranging from double stout to lager beers and Barton ales, upon the market before the end of the year. These beers will differ from any at present on the market owing to their exceptional purity, being brewed from all malt and hops under a new English system, and being guaranteed free from any chemical preservative whatever.

It is interesting to note that the importance of pure beer has recently attracted the notice of the German Reichstag, which, whilst placing no restriction upon the ingredients of beers brewed for export purposes, insists upon beer for home consumption being brewed from "barley malt" and hops only.

EGYPTIAN DELTA LAND AND INVESTMENT CO., LTD.

The following circular has been sent out by the secretary of the company:—Referring to this company's circular of 29th June last, and the consideration of the subject at the extraordinary general meeting held on the 19th July, I am desired to inform you that the shareholders of the Egyptian Land and General Trust, Limited, have decided against amalgamation with this company.

NEW EGYPTIAN OPERA.

In "Amasia," the new Egyptian opera, written by Mr. Frederick Penn and composed by Mr. Faraday, which is to be produced at the New Theatre, London, during the early part of this month, Miss Ruth Vincent will essay the character of the eponymous heroine, a princess, daughter of Pharaoh, beloved by the hero, Prince Hanotep. Mr. Rutland Barrington will be seen as Pharaoh, and Mr. Norman Salmond will make a welcome appearance as a high priest of the Temple of Memphis. Prince Hanotep, it may be mentioned, has been unfortunate enough to kill a Sacred Cat—by heaving a brick at her as she serenades him beneath his window, what time he is indicting a poem to his Princess. There is, the "Standard" observes, much excuse for such an act in the circumstances, but the Prince is condemned to death. To relieve all anxiety, however, it may be said at once that the hero of the new comic opera does not really die.

KHEDIVIAL OPERA HOUSE.

We understand that M. Poncet, the concessionaire of the Khedivial Opera House, Cairo, has formed an excellent opera company which is likely to give general satisfaction. The engagements so far concluded are as follows:— M. Esalasi (from the Opéra), fort ténor; M. Fontaine (théâtre royal de Liège), ténor demi-caractère; M. Montoux (Nantes), ténor léger; M. Mezy (Rouen), baryton de grand opéra; M. Loree (Bordeaux), baryton d'opéra comique; M. Maas (Lyons), basse noble; M. Durand (Opéra Comique), basse chantante; M. Chape-lon, Lyon, basse chantante; M. Gurdin (Lyons), 2me basse; M. Diard (Lyons), 3me ténor; M. Tisseron (Lyons), 3me basse; M. Baron (Lyons), forte chanteuse falcon; Mlle Chaperantier (Opéra Comique), 1er chanteuse légère; M. Chaux-Bonheur (Lyons), contralto; Mlle Devilly (Lyons), chanteuse légère grand opéra; Mlle Karl (Marseilles), 1er dugazon; M. Burty (Nantes), 2me dugazon; M. Joliet (Opéra Comique), 2me dugazon.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.

NERONE.

In attempting to support the varied character of Nero, the most accomplished actor has indeed a difficult task, and Sig. Giovanni Novelli is therefore to be congratulated on having given last evening a very convincing representation of that vicious and depraved personality. Possessed of a fine presence and an excellent delivery, Sig. Novelli made the most of the many opportunities with which the play abounds, and whether in the passages of love or fury, the drunken brawl, or the cowardly suicide with which the play ends, the artiste was ever in evidence, and no point was missed. Sig. Novelli was ably supported by Signa. Lina Vidali and a good company who made the most of the parts allotted to them. The play was exceedingly well staged. It is to be hoped that Nerone will be repeated.

COLD-BLOODED MURDER.

ALEXANDRIA DOCTOR SHOT.

A terrible murder of a local medical man was perpetrated at Alexandria late last night. A young Italian gunsmith, living in the Moharrem Bey quarter, went to the house in Attaristreet of a Greek doctor, by name Ver-veropoulos, in order to beg him to come at once to attend to his mother, who was seized with a dangerous illness. The doctor refused to come unless he received his fee in advance. The Italian replied that he had no money with him at the moment for he had rushed out to the doctor in a hurry, but that if the doctor would come at once he would be paid as soon as he entered the house.

The doctor went with him as far as the house but refused to enter before receiving his fee, which was £1. At this the Italian became infuriated. Drawing a revolver from his pocket he emptied two of the chambers into the doctor's body. He then left the house and gave himself up to the first policeman he chanced to meet.

The doctor, who was aged about 35, died this morning from his wounds.

TERRIBLE TRAIN FATALITY.

Late last night we received the following telegram from our correspondent at Sohag:—Inspector Ortol, of the Sleeping Car Company, was sitting upon the roof of the sleeping car while the train was passing under Sohag bridge, when he came in contact with the bridge and his head was cut off. His body was afterwards conveyed to hospital here for an autopsy.

LORD CROMER AS A VOLUNTEER.

Lord Cromer made a very interesting confession at the Volunteer field operations at Newlands Corner, when the Secretary for War was present, the "Daily News" says. Lord Cromer said it was not the first time he had attended similar gatherings at Newlands Corner. In fact, at one of the meetings he very nearly carried off the prize. Few people were aware that the "Reformer of Egypt" had been a member of our citizen army.

PURIFICATION OF ALEXANDRIA.

Miralai Hopkinson Bey and the Alexandria City Police have taken the question of the moral purification of Alexandria seriously in hand, and a new department, under Youshabshi Blattner, has been specially organised for this purpose. Eleven women of doubtful antecedents have been arrested during the last few days, and strenuous endeavours are to be made to make Alexandria a highly moral city.

ALEXANDRIA SWIMMING CLUB.

A plunging and diving competition will take place to-morrow.

MUSTAPHA PASHA KAMEL'S VISIT TO ENGLAND.

THE PAN-ISLAMIC SOCIETY.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

London, July 27.

There was a large assembly at the Criterion Restaurant on Tuesday evening to meet Mustapha Pasha Kamel. The company included Mr. Byles, M.P., Dr. Karl Blind, Sir Man-cherjee Bhownagore, Mr. Swinney (president of the Positivists Society), Hamid Bey, Mme Hamid Bey, Mahomed Kahn (military attaché to the Persian Legation), Dr. John Pollen, and many others, chiefly representatives of Moslems from various parts of the world. Mr. A. Suhrawardy, the energetic secretary of the society, welcomed the Pasha in an Arabic speech, and brief addresses were also delivered by Dr. Pollen, Pandit Krishnavarma (President of the Indian Home Rule Society), Major Syed Hassan, late of the Indian Medical Service, and Mr. Taropawala, a young Parsi gentleman. The Pasha replied in Arabic, and I am able to give you a full outline translation both of his speech and of that of Mr. Suhrawardy. Mr. Suhrawardy said:—

I believe I voice the sentiment of every Moslem present here when I say that the gathering of this evening is the source of greatest pleasure and pride to the Pan-Islamic Society. For we have assembled here to-night for the purpose of welcoming H.E. Mustapha Pasha Kamel, the well known Egyptian patriot, who has devoted himself heart and soul to the realisation of the ideal which is also the dream of the founder of the Pan-Islamic Society, viz: to re-animate a sense of brotherhood amongst the Moslems, to ameliorate their moral and intellectual conditions, and to dispel the darkness of ignorance and prejudice prevalent in the West regarding Islam and the Moslems. The leaders of Islam are fully conscious that the Moslems have fallen on evil days and are compassed round with darkness and with dangers. Islam needs a leader at this critical stage of her history and the leadership and its concomitant responsibility ought to belong to the Moslems of India, but they, in spite of their numerical strength and devotion to the Holy Faith, are powerless because of difference of religion and tongues. Thus the leadership of thought and action in Islam has passed to Egypt, situated as she is at the confluence of the streams of the ancient and modern civilizations, on account of her vicinity to the Cradle of Islam, and the solitude of the desert which has been the source of inspiration of liberty, equality, and fraternity. But Egypt needs for the deliverance of the Islamic world, a hero like Mustapha Pasha Kamel, who combines in his person the accomplishments of the East and the West, and to whom the words of the poet truly apply:—

The spirited charger, the darkness of the night,
And the solitude of the desert know me,
And also the sword, the lance, the paper and the pen.

Since the discovery of America, the centre of the civilized world has shifted to England, and people are flocking from all parts of the world in search of light and knowledge. The Moslems, too, in obedience to the command of the Koran and the Prophet contained in the injunction, "Travel in the lands and go in quest of knowledge even unto China," are not behind others in this respect. But our hearts have never rejoiced so much at the visit of Emirs and rulers of Islam as on the occasion of your Excellency's visit to this country, because you are an Emir of the aristocracy of patriotism, a lion of the forest of freedom, and a champion of the rights of humanity. Your Excellency has done well to come here with the object of acquainting the Egyptian people with the true state of affairs in Egypt and with the aims and aspirations of the Moslem people, and I hope and trust that they will not turn a deaf ear to the cry of the Moslem and allow religious bigotry and prejudices to overcome their sense of justice and fairness. Even if the special object of your visit be not attained, do not be discouraged. Your visit to England is not altogether in vain. From the capital of this great empire your cry will reach not only your brethren in faith but the farthest corner of the globe but will also find an echo in the hearts of patriots of other countries, your partners in suffering. And the domain of patriotism is wider than that of Islam. Already I find, in the presence, here to-night, of such persons as the veteran Dr. Karl Blind, the President of the Indian Home Rule Society, the President of the Positivists Society, and the distinguished representative of the Parsee community, Sir H. H. Bhownagreg, ample proof of sympathy with your cause from people who do not belong to our faith but are citizens of the Republic of Justice and Humanity. Return to your beloved country and continue your struggle for freedom, and in moments of dejection and despair, remember that you are not quite alone, that henceforth the best wishes of the dwellers on the banks of the Rhine and the Danube, the Bosphorus and the Golden Horn, the Ganges and the Euphrates accompany the efforts of a son of the valley of the Nile, and that their eyes are directed in expectation towards the Egyptian horizon to see the break of the dawn of liberty, and the signal for the deliverance of the Children of Ismael from the dominion of the Pharaohs and their happy entry into the promised land of freedom. My zeal overcame my discretion. Hence I ventured to address you in Arabic, otherwise, in the presence of the Demosthenes of Egypt, reticence is the best speech and silence the best expression of eloquence.

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I thank you, from the bottom of my heart for your kind words of welcome, and I can hardly find words to express in an adequate manner my feeling of gratitude. No one deserves any praise for performing his duty and I have not yet performed mine—so hardly merit the praise which your kindness has bestowed on me. Perhaps you desire in my person to honour and encourage every Egyptian devoted to his country and the cause of freedom. Taking in that light your words of sympathy, I request you, on behalf of the Egyptian people, to accept their expression of most heartfelt thanks and gratitude to you. Specially I thank Mr. Suhrawardy, whose zeal for the cause of truth has filled me with joy which has renewed and strengthened my hopes and aspirations. I cannot too adequately thank him for his kindness, and perhaps the first expression of thanks is the acknowledgment of one's ability to do so. When I arrived in London I hardly dreamed of having the pleasure of assisting at such a distinguished and representative gathering—an assembly consisting of so many Easterns and Westerns, of Hindoos, Parsees, Buddhists, Jews, Christians, and Moslems. That is why I regard this evening as unique and unparalleled in my life, an evening whose sweet and inspiring reminiscences will never fade from my memory. I am especially glad to notice this sentiment of sympathy and goodwill towards Islam which is dawning upon the thoughtful followers of other creeds. They are wise in encouraging this feeling of friendship. For the Renaissance of Islam means the Renaissance of humanity. I therefore deem myself specially fortunate in having to-night an opportunity of addressing humanity in the person of its most enlightened children. Heroes of the Empire of Intellect, be ye conquerors. Conquer with the army of the Science of Enlightenment at your command the dark dominions of ignorance and superstition. Conquer with the force of knowledge and history the strong fortresses of prejudice and bigotry, and open wide the gates of your heart for the reception of Truth and Light. For a conquered people there is no cure better than a passionate devotion to Truth. Be ye, therefore, messengers of Light and Truth, the missionaries of brilliant and triumphant Truth, the army of physicians prescribing the bitter pills of Truth. Tell the effete and feeble rulers and princes, "Awake from your deep slumber. Recover soon from your drunkenness caused by the possession of absolute authority, the boast of heraldry, and the braveries of pomp and pageantry. Awake ye, before the depths of degradation into which your subjects have fallen sound the death knell of your rule and shake the very foundations of your throne. Awake, before the day overtakes you when repentance and regrets will be of no avail." Tell the rich who waste so much of their wealth in the pursuit of ignoble pleasures, and who do not spare a farthing for a noble cause, "Awake before it is too late. Do not forget in the midnight of your intoxication that a bitter day of reckoning awaits you. Awake, arise, or be for ever fallen. Your fates are bound up with those of your people and your glory depends upon their prosperity. If they rise, you rise. If they fall, you fall with them. Wealth is a poison if it becomes an instrument of evil; a life-giving antidote when devoted to a noble purpose. Regard it, therefore, as a divine gift and a sacred trust. Tell the people who live the life of animals and are led like dumb driven cattle, "Awake, and realize the true significance of life. Fill the earth and adorn it with the results of your labours." Gentlemen, you alone can make them understand the full meaning of life; nay, you alone can give them life. Hasten, therefore, with your medicine, O physicians, the patient is in a critical state, and delay spells death. The malady of the Moslem nations is twofold. One I have already alluded to, the other is the absurd belief of millions of people that devotion to Islam is incompatible with progress and enlightenment. They say that our death is more profitable to mankind than our life. The contemplation of this fills the heart of every educated Moslem and every cultured Oriental with sorrow. It is no use referring them to the glorious pages of our past history. It is no use pointing out to them that we owe allegiance to a liberal faith which enjoins upon us the search of knowledge from the cradle to the grave. Our decline and fall and present degradation is living proof contra dicting your assertion. You must prove it by deeds and not by mere words. The march of events and vicissitudes in the world has proved that the strong current of science and knowledge alone can give us life and sovereign power. Those who march with the current arrive at the harbour of salvation. Those who go against it, are doomed. See how the Japanese people, by a supreme manifestation of self-abnegation and devotion to their beloved country, have at one stroke completely refuted the allegations of the prejudiced European that the Easterners are incapable of assimilating modern progressive ideas. And lo, behold, even England, disdaining alliance with Euro-pean powers, stretches forth the hand of friendship to Oriental Japan. One word, before I resume my seat, as to the charge of Mussulman fanaticism which, in season and out of season, issues from the lips of the West. I deny this false and baseless charge most emphatically and categorically; and I appeal to you, gentlemen, to help me in removing the ignorance and prejudice against Islam prevalent in the West. Gentlemen, thank you once more for your kind words of welcome and expression of sympathy.

COMMISSION MUNICIPALE

(Communication Officielle)

(Suite et Fin)

Communication est ensuite donnée d'une lettre du 20 juin de la Société des tramways, acceptant le renouvellement pour une année de l'entente relative à l'entretien des rues traversées par ses lignes aux conditions fixées par la Commission dans une de ses dernières séances.

Sur la demande de la Délégation, la Commission décide l'ouverture des crédits suivants :
1° L.E. 324, à prélever sur la réserve du budget ordinaire pour l'installation de grilles en fer autour des nouveaux aquares, à installer à la halte Zizinia et aux rues Sidi-el-Haggari et Zawiet el-Badan.

2° L.E. 100, à titre supplémentaire, à prélever sur la réserve du budget ordinaire, pour frais de courses du service des recettes.
3° L.E. 1,600, à titre supplémentaire, pour fourniture de fourrages, dépense à régulariser ultérieurement.

4° L.E. 100, à titre supplémentaire, à prélever sur la réserve du budget ordinaire pour frais d'éclairage du palais municipal.

Sur la proposition de la Délégation, elle autorise la mise en adjudication de la fourniture d'un nouveau rouleau compresseur, sauf à en faire régulariser ultérieurement la dépense par la Commission, laquelle ne pourra être déterminée qu'à la suite de l'adjudication.

Elle approuve la nomination d'un chauffeur pour la pompe automobile et charge la Délégation de régler les détails de cette nomination.

La proposition tendant à la nomination d'un ingénieur mécanicien est ajournée jusqu'après la désignation de l'ingénieur en Chef.

Mention est faite de l'envoi aux membres du rapport de M. Rothacker relatif à la situation de la Municipalité vis-à-vis de certaines Sociétés de services publics, c.a.d. les eaux, le gaz et les tramways de la ville et de Ramleh.

M. Rothacker expose le but de sa proposition, qui est d'arriver en pourparlers avec les représentants des dites Sociétés à l'effet d'obtenir le retour à la ville après un certain temps de ces différentes entreprises qui doivent appartenir à la collectivité, de telle sorte que loin de constituer une charge éternelle pour la Municipalité, celle-ci puisse à un moment donné, à l'instar des autres villes, profiter des ressources que lui créent ces exploitations.

La Commission, considérant l'importance de la question, ajourne à la rentrée la discussion de la proposition, mais elle prie M. Rothacker de poursuivre son étude sur certains points qu'il a déclaré ne pas avoir eu le temps d'approfondir suffisamment, et lui adjoint M. Zervoudachi, en vue de la préparation des données complètes sur lesquelles doit porter l'étude de la Commission.

Communication est donnée du rapport de M. Dietrich Bey émettant l'avis qu'une largeur de 15 mètres serait suffisante pour la corniche et présenterait le moins de difficultés dans l'exécution.

Après un échange d'idées, la Commission s'en tient à la première délibération prise par elle tendant au maintien de la largeur de 25 mètres, dans la partie du parcours de la route qui se trouve sur les terrains de la Municipalité ou du Gouvernement et dans l'adoption pour la partie bordant les propriétés privées de la largeur la plus grande possible, en tenant compte de la configuration du rivage et des possibilités d'exécution, sans que toutefois la largeur dans ces parties soit inférieure à 15 mètres.

Le Président fait part de l'invitation adressée à la Municipalité d'Alexandrie par le 2ème Congrès international d'assainissement et de salubrité de l'habitation et dit que la Délégation a été unanime pour proposer à la Commission de se faire représenter, à ce Congrès par M. le Professeur Gottschlich, en ce moment, en Suisse, lequel ne manquera pas de faire profiter la ville des enseignements que si dégageaient des discussions auxquelles prendront part les savants les plus autorisés, dans une matière qui intéresse aussi hautement une Municipalité soucieuse de l'hygiène et du bien-être des habitants.

M. le Dr. Schiess pacha ajoute que les préoccupations de la Municipalité étant présentement dirigées vers les questions relatives aux maisons à bon marché et aux cités ouvrières, il y avait lieu tout en chargeant le professeur Gottschlich, de porter son attention d'une façon spéciale sur les études du Congrès sur ces questions, de l'inviter également à visiter les cités ouvrières les plus réputées soit en Suisse soit dans le voisinage, et de présenter un rapport sur l'ensemble de la question et sur les résultats obtenus.

La Commission approuve la proposition de la Délégation telle qu'elle est exposée par le Président.

La Commission, à l'occasion de l'examen des divers excédents et emprises soumis à son approbation, décide, sur une proposition de la Délégation, et vu la note du service de la comptabilité générale, de prélever, sur le budget extraordinaire, une somme de L.E. 8,000 pour le règlement des expropriations en cours, le crédit y relatif étant presque totalement épuisé.

Elle règle par suite divers excédents et emprises sur états communiqués.

La Commission approuve deux arrangements proposés par le Comité du Contentieux, dans des affaires Caprara et Compagnie des Eaux et autorise l'Administration à ester en justice dans divers procès.

Sur la demande de la Délégation, elle inscrit d'urgence à l'ordre du jour de la prochaine séance, après en avoir informé par dépêche le Ministère de l'Intérieur, un projet d'entente à intervenir avec le Patriarcat grec pour la cession de trois rues destinées à relier par les terrains du Patriarcat et du Comte de Zoghbeh, la rue de Rosette aux rues César et Misseala, moyennant paiement au Patriarcat d'une somme de L.E. 3,000.

position de la Délégation, accepte la dite cession au prix sus-indiqué et dans les conditions fixées par le projet de lettre à adresser au Patriarcat et dont l'Assemblée adopte les termes.

Etant donné que la Commission est liée par un délai d'option, la partie du procès-verbal relative à cette question est adoptée séance tenante, aux fins de sanction d'urgence par S.E. le Ministre de l'Intérieur.

M. Zervoudachi dit que sa proposition relative à la vente des terrains en été, n'ayant pu être portée avant la séance de ce jour, et que deux mois seulement nous séparent de l'époque où les ventes pourront être reprises; que d'autre part les formalités d'approbation et de publication exigeraient un délai assez long, il se réserve de la développer en temps utile pour une autre session estivale.

La séance est levée à 7 h. p.m.

BULLETIN DE LA BOURSE

(Aujourd'hui à midi et demie.)

Comme hier, les affaires se sont limitées aux Delta Land, Comptoir et Agricole.

En Delta Land, l'opinion générale étant de plus en plus pessimiste, le cours tombe à 31/8 vendeurs.

Par contre, le Comptoir rentre en vogue et atteint 6 1/32 l'ancienne et 6 9/32 la nouvelle.

La part de fondateur réactionne de 43 à 42 1/2.

Quelques échanges ont eu lieu également en Delta Light, Crédit Foncier Egyptien, Land Bank, Trust, Estates et Banque d'Orient.

A cette occasion, le président de l'assemblée exposera le programme que le Trust se propose d'adopter à la suite du rejet de l'arrangement concerté avec l'Egyptian Delta Land and Investment Co.

RUSSIAN CRISIS.

THE SVEABORG MUTINY.

PORTS SILENCED.

MUTINEERS SURRENDER.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 2.

The cannonading at Sveaborg continued throughout yesterday evening. Warships are bombarding the mutineers. A powder magazine exploded. The white flag was hoisted late in the evening and it is rumoured that the mutineers have surrendered.

A wealthy Jewish member of the Duma named Herzenstein was shot dead while walking with his family on the sea shore in Finland. The assassin escaped. A gendarme has been arrested who is suspected of complicity. It is believed that the crime was committed on behalf of the police as a reprisal for the murders of their officials. (Reuter)

ST. PETERSBURG, August 2.

The Sveaborg mutiny has been finally crushed. The battleships Tsarevitch and Slava poured in a terrific fire on the forts at short range. The mutineers replied vigorously for a time, but the battleships eventually succeeded in silencing the forts.

It is reported that the garrison of Fort Constantine at Kronstadt has mutinied. The other forts bombarded and eventually succeeded in silencing it. Passengers arriving from Kronstadt state the soldiers have killed several officers.

(Later.) It is officially stated from Kronstadt that the mutineers have surrendered. Four officers have been killed and three wounded in the fighting. (Reuter)

NEW COMPANIES.

MORE IN 1905 THAN IN ANY YEAR SINCE THE WAR.

The report of the Board of Trade under Section 29 of the Companies (Winding-up) Act, issued last week, contains some interesting reading.

During last year 1693 companies were wound up and 3967 new companies were added to the register, the net increase of companies during the year being 1162.

The decrease in the amount of nominal capital registered, which was continuous from the year 1896 to the year 1904, has, it is pointed out, taken an upward turn, the total, £108,655,043, comparing with £83,914,688 in 1904. The gain is, however, very small as compared with the great losses shown in the earlier years of the decade. The number of companies registered during the year 1905 also shows an increase, the total being the largest number registered in any year since the outbreak of the South African War.

A great change has taken place during the past ten years in the character of the companies, and the growth in number of these with the smallest capital has been most marked. For instance, companies with a capital of between £1000 and £500 have increased very much, the respective numbers being 782 for the year 1896 and 1260 for the year 1905.

The report calls attention to a revival in the use of the prospectus, which diminished since 1902.

MAJOR POWELL-COTTON'S EXPEDITION.

Reuter's Agency has received news of Major Powell-Cotton's expedition, which left England over eighteen months ago on a journey from the Nile to the Zambesi. The latest intelligence to hand by this mail is dated from Nakala, on the Upper Ituri, on May 12. This place, which is situated in the heart of the rubber district, is one of the chief haunts of the ekapi, and here the explorer had remained for two months for the purpose of obtaining specimens of the animal. In this he has been successful, having preserved the complete skin and skeleton of an adult bull okapi. Major Powell-Cotton hopes to secure its partner before leaving the forest.

AN OFFICER'S MISTAKE.

A remarkable Indian snake story is told by General Sir Thomas Edward Gordon, K.C.B.:

When asleep at night an officer happened to cast his arm over the side of the bed, and was violently awakened by a sharp bite on one of his fingers. Calling for a light, he and the servant who brought it on hasty examination decided that the punctured marks were those of snake-bite, and, after tightly binding his arm in two places to stop circulation he proceeded with the servant's assistance to cut off the bitten finger. In the meanwhile his dogcart was made ready, and he was taken quickly to the regimental hospital, where medical treatment was promptly applied. On the surgeon afterwards examining the severed portion of the finger he pronounced the bite to be that of a rat!

A STRANGE PHENOMENON.

A most strange phenomenon has come to light on an island off the Breton coast. In the left eye of the little daughter of a fisherman, just below the pupil, can be seen the number 22.4. The figures are beautifully formed, and are plainly visible, even down to the comma separating the second 2 and the 4. The local doctor can only account for it by saying that the girl's parents may have suffered from some nervous or hysterical disorders which resulted in this number appearing on the child's eye.

TALKS WITH THE KAISER.

THE ETIQUETTE THAT IS ONLY TRANSGRESSED AT SEA.

Some interesting facts concerning the rigorous Court etiquette which the Kaiser requires from those of his subjects who come into personal contact with him are given in the social column of a leading Berlin journal.

Although the Kaiser is thoroughly democratic in his choice of acquaintances, anything approaching familiarity of conversation is out of the question. He invites men of miscellaneous professions and standing to his table: a savant to-day, to-morrow a leading merchant, and the next day a sculptor. But throughout these tête-à-têtes the guest is compelled to leave all choice of subject for discussion to the Kaiser.

Courtiers who are practised in the art are sometimes successful in gradually leading up to the matter upon which they wish the talk to turn, so that the Emperor himself finally introduces the subject, but the Kaiser is said to be quick to detect and frustrate any manoeuvres of this sort.

During his annual Northern cruise, the Kaiser's attitude relaxes to that of comrade among comrades. He is accustomed to refer to this sea-trip as his "vacation," and is willing that the holiday atmosphere should modify the customary ceremony of his intercourse with his subjects. No current political topics are touched upon, except, as at Court, when the Emperor himself broaches the subject. But political matters are the only for-bidden ground.

A SYRIAN LEPER.

UNCOMFORTABLE EXPERIENCES.

After experiencing what the newspapers described as scandalous and inhuman treatment, George Rossett, a Syrian leper, reached a retreat near New York yesterday week. Driven from his temporary home in West Virginia, he was corralled and guarded by the police and finally hoisted into a box van on the railway. Then Rossett's real troubles began. Exaggerated fears regarding contagion got abroad, and the city and State authorities gave orders and counter-orders with the result that Rossett spent seven days in the box car like a wild beast in a cage, food and water being handed him through the bars. At last, Rossett, still entertained at the expense of the railway, was located on a siding near Baltimore, unable to move east because Philadelphia objected, or west because Cumberland protested. The railway people had done their best to make the man comfortable by supplying him with pillows, food, and a bath, all free.

FRANCE AND THE PORTE.

The Constantinople correspondent of the "Temps," referring to the rumours relative to the occupation of Janet by Turkish troops in violation of the recognized rights of France over that oasis, says that the French Ambassador has asked the Porte for explanations. The reply was that the Turkish troops had not been to Janet and had no intention of going there. This, according to the correspondent, closes the incident, which had its origin in the fact that in January, 1905, the Turks did occupy the oasis and a French officer had to remove the Turkish flag which he found flying there.

SULTAN'S UNEASINESS.

Apparently, in order to prevent the corruption which proceeds from evil communications the Turkish censorship has prohibited all reference to the Russian Duma in the local Press.

VOLCANIC DUST NUISANCE.

There is an opening for vacuum cleaners at Naples. The British Consul-General in Italy says that the recent eruption of Vesuvius "has caused not only the houses but even the best-constructed household furniture to be filled with a penetrating powder of impalpable fineness which clings to everything as it falls, and is subsequently, when quite dry, blown off by every passing draught of air. The outer walls of houses are black with it, and inside the carpets and curtains are in a condition which demands careful householders."

STROMBOLI IN ERUPTION.

The volcano of Stromboli, so well known to all travellers from Alexandria to Marseilles, after having been unquiet for some time, entered on the stage of active eruption last week and poured out a torrent of lava, which invaded the village of Ginestra. The inhabitants escaped.

"NOTICE."

On the floor of the corner house in a street leading out of a well-known West-end square the following notice appears on the brass plate: "This house is No. 64a, — street and not No. 13, — square. That house is round the corner. Do not ring here." One can dimly imagine (says the "Chronicle") the state of nervous madness to which that householder was reduced before he sat down to compose such a notice.

MURDER AND MATRIMONY.

The chauffeur Mathieu has been sentenced to life imprisonment in the Seine Assize Courts for murdering and robbing his employer, M. Bédor. Mathieu pleaded that he only meant to steal enough money to marry with, says the "Express," and that he had been forced to murder by M. Bédor's determined resistance. Mathieu's fiancée was in court, and went into hysterics when he was sentenced.

VACATION FOR PRINCIPLES.

A very rich and Socialist deputy, says the "Figaro," has rented a property by the sea. He has also closed his park to pedestrians, and excluded the public from a part of the shore, which he has reserved to himself. "What," says one to him, "you a Socialist!" "Oh, pardon!" replies the deputy, "my convictions are enjoying a vacation."

BURGLAR-PROOF TOMB.

Stealing the body of a rich dead man and holding it for ransom is fairly common in America. The body of Mr. Russell Sage has been buried at Troy in a chilled steel case four inches thick, and weighing three tons. Electric wires are connected with this metal tomb, which will give the alarm if any attempt is made to tamper with it. The case cost over £3,000.

WOULD SAVE SUCH A LOT OF TROUBLE.

A dear old lady, on hearing that another effort is to be made to secure the sanction of Parliament to the Channel Tunnel scheme, said she would be glad to see it passed, for in that event there would surely be no need for all these poor people to try to swim across.

UTTERLY EXHAUSTED.

Business Man's Serious State. Dejected, and Wretchedly Weak, with Unbearable Back Pains.

Sinking into Despondency.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills For Pale People

Brought back Health and Vigour.

To neglect of the first warnings by which Nature makes known approaching weakness and disease Mr. Benjamin T. Line, of 35, Follywell-street, Blackburn, attributes the intense suffering that darkened his life until Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People restored health and vigour.

"I first had a curious feeling of weariness," said Mr. Line, "that no rest would dispel. Throughout the day I was worried with this strange sensation of fatigue, and no matter how heavily I slept at night I would rise the next morning just as weary and depressed. In time I became utterly exhausted, and though I continued to go to business I was not fit for work; in fact, at the end of the day I felt almost dead. Sometimes I could hardly walk; a dull irritating pain settled in the middle of my back, succeeded at times by shooting pains which became unbearably intense. A change came over my appearance; I was pale and careworn, and my eyes were sunken. All energy was sapped out of my body, and though medical men and acquaintances advised various medicines nothing gave assistance.

"I had almost lost hope of recovery when I remembered having read of many cures by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It was like an inspiration. I bought a box and took the pills according to directions. They seemed to rouse me from my despondent state, and with two boxes I felt that health was returning. By persevering with the pills I overcame the terrible feeling of exhaustion, and with a few boxes my cure was complete. Thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I have completely regained health, strength, and spirits, and business is once more a pleasure." Strength, nerves of steel, and good blood are given to weak, ailing men by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They have cured Debility, Indigestion, Rheumatism, Nervous Disorders, including St. Vitus' Dance and Paralysis: for women they are specially valuable in the ailments of their sex.

Sold in Egypt by all chemists at Fr. 3.50 the box or Fr. 17.50 for six boxes; also at the depôts of S. Fischer & Cie and Galotti & Figli, Alexandria.

CRIMES ET DELITS.

Il résulte du rapport de M. E. K. Corbett, procureur général des tribunaux indigènes, que le nombre des crimes s'est élevé à 3,011 en 1905, tandis qu'en 1904 ce nombre n'était que de 2,877. Cette augmentation n'est d'ailleurs qu'apparente. Elle provient de la création de certains crimes nouveaux; 1. certains vols ou infractions, commis par les récidivistes, 2. l'empoisonnement de bestiaux et la destruction de récoltes. Dans la répartition des crimes on constate une nouvelle diminution de 32 % en Menoufieh, de 18 % à Alexandrie et de 13 % à Assiout; par contre, il y a augmentation de 45 % à Beni Souef, de 39 % en Charkieh, 13 % en Béhéra et 15 % au Fayoum.

Le parquet a défilé 22,110 affaires de délits aux tribunaux sommaires et a classé provisoirement 10,695 affaires.

An 31 décembre 1905 il restait au parquet un arriéré de 1,667 affaires sous examen et en instruction, soit une moyenne de 38 affaires pour chaque parquet.

Les 44 juges sommaires ont jugé 26,556 affaires tant nouvelles qu'arriérées de l'année 1904.

Dans 22,598 affaires, il est intervenu des jugements de condamnation.

Dans 3,715 affaires, il est intervenu des jugements d'acquiescement.

Dans 243 affaires, il est intervenu des jugements d'incompétence.

La proportion des jugements de condamnation rendus par les tribunaux sommaires a été de 85 % sur l'ensemble des affaires jugées. Cette proportion était de 88 % en 1904.

Les jugements de condamnation rendus par les tribunaux sommaires ont porté sur 33,093 personnes et ceux rendus par les tribunaux de markaz ont porté sur 54,657 personnes.

Le total des appels interjetés en 1905 s'élève à 17,934.

140,506 affaires de contraventions ont été examinées aux Parquets et aux Markaz.

Sur ce nombre 21,249 ont été classées sans suite, faute d'éléments de poursuite, et 24,524 ont fait l'objet de transaction en vertu du décret du 10 février 1892.

Dans ce chiffre de 140,506 affaires de contraventions, la ville du Caire figure, à elle seule, pour 39,686 et la ville d'Alexandrie figure pour 16,026.

Les affaires classées sans suite s'élevaient à 23,540, et celles qui ont fait l'objet de transactions à 15,908.

Les tribunaux sommaires ont rendu 11,605 jugements, dont 10,643 de condamnation, 865 d'acquiescement et 97 jugements d'incompétence.

Les dénonciations présentées aux markaz s'élevaient à 130,317 dont 19,563 ont été classées sans suite et 23,875 ont fait l'objet de transactions.

Les tribunaux de markaz ont jugé 86,114 affaires dont 79,697 des jugements de condamnation, 6,161 des jugements d'acquiescement et 256 des jugements d'incompétence.

En matière civile, pendant le cours de l'année, 3,109 affaires nouvelles ont été présentées aux tribunaux de première instance.

Sur ce nombre 1,853 avaient pour objet des contestations personnelles ou mobilières et 1,956 avaient pour objet des contestations immobilières. Ce nombre est supérieur à celui de l'année 1904 où il était de 2,307, à celui de 1903 où il était de 2,255, à celui de 1902 où il était de 1,818 et à celui de 1901 où il était de 1,883.

Le total des affaires terminées, y compris celles arriérées de l'année 1904, s'est élevé à 2,538.

Sur ce nombre 1,966 ont abouti à des jugements sur le fond et 572 ont fait l'objet de jugements d'annulation de la procédure, de radiation et de réconciliation.
